Message from Joe Solomon:

Programming for Fun is a group of programming enthusiasts. They will get together and decide on a game or other program to make, design it, split it up into reasonable loads, and code the program. At the end of the semester, we plan on bringing all the games together and having a party where we can play them all, and hopefully they will be put online too. Our first meeting is Wed. Sept. 10th at 5pm in CSIC 2118.

Thanks for your help,
Joe Solomon

P.S. If any of your students have questions, they can e-mail me at joesolly@umd.edu
