Sellen et al. research program

Moving away from

“... the future cannot be designed on the basis of the present.”

And toward

“... when we focus on how people currently use paper, we have found time and again that the end result has been design that is more original and less like conventional digital technology”

Paper as an analytic resource for design

- Using affordances as a design tool

Research agenda

- More “digital friendly” paper documents
- More “paper like” digital documents
