Now you are wondering, why do I want to add more classes to my already busy schedule? The benefits exceedingly overwhelm the additional coursework. The consistent leadership and team training is invaluable once you enter the working world. The experience in two real-life consulting projects with real-world companies while in classes. The project based class structure, will prepare you for the real world project oriented technical job market. The priceless skill sets that are learned will help continually help you in your internship and job search. Are you interested yet?

The QUEST Honors Program will be holding an Information Open House on February 16th at 5:30pm at 1524 Frank Auditorium in Van Munching Hall (Business School). There will be free pizza at the end of the Open House as well! Please check it out to see if QUEST is for you.
