

The method Integer.parseInt throws the NumberFormatException if the string parameter does not represent an integer value. Write a method that keeps asking the user for an integer as long as an invalid value is provided. You should catch the NumberFormatException and add any code needed to keep asking the user for a value.