

CMSC435 Software Engineering
Quiz 01

Name:

1. What is Software?

Software is collection of programs or procedures and associated documentation pertaining to the operation of a computer system.

2. Typically how are the costs distributed in software development?

60% of costs are development costs and 40% are testing costs.

Costs involved in different stages of software development like design, development, testing, maintenance, project management are also considered.