ABSTRACT

This paper surveys the hierarchical data structures used in computer vision and image processing. It reviews the fundamental concepts, algorithms, and applications of these structures, providing a comprehensive overview of the field.

College Park, Maryland 20742
University of Maryland
Computer Science Department

Hanna Samet