“I remember the first time I met Ashok at a short course I was speaking at, and I persuaded him to come to the UMCP Computer Science department instead of taking a job in industry. I'm glad he came to Maryland and developed into a shining star!”

“I reflect often on the positive impact you have had on my life. I am forever grateful for your guidance and our deep conversations over coffee throughout the pursuit of my PhD. Congratulations on the magnificent achievement of fifty years at UMD!”

A middle-aged man with dark hair, wearing a light-colored checkered button-down shirt, stands in a garden. He has a slight smile and is looking directly at the camera. The background is filled with lush green trees and bushes. A large, thick tree trunk is prominent on the right side of the frame. In the upper right corner, there is a black rectangular box with white text. The man's shirt has a small white tag or card tucked into the pocket.

No, I am not that crooked.

“It is a pleasure to participate in this celebration of all your contributions to UMD
and beyond.”

~ Professor Aravind Srinivasan & Family

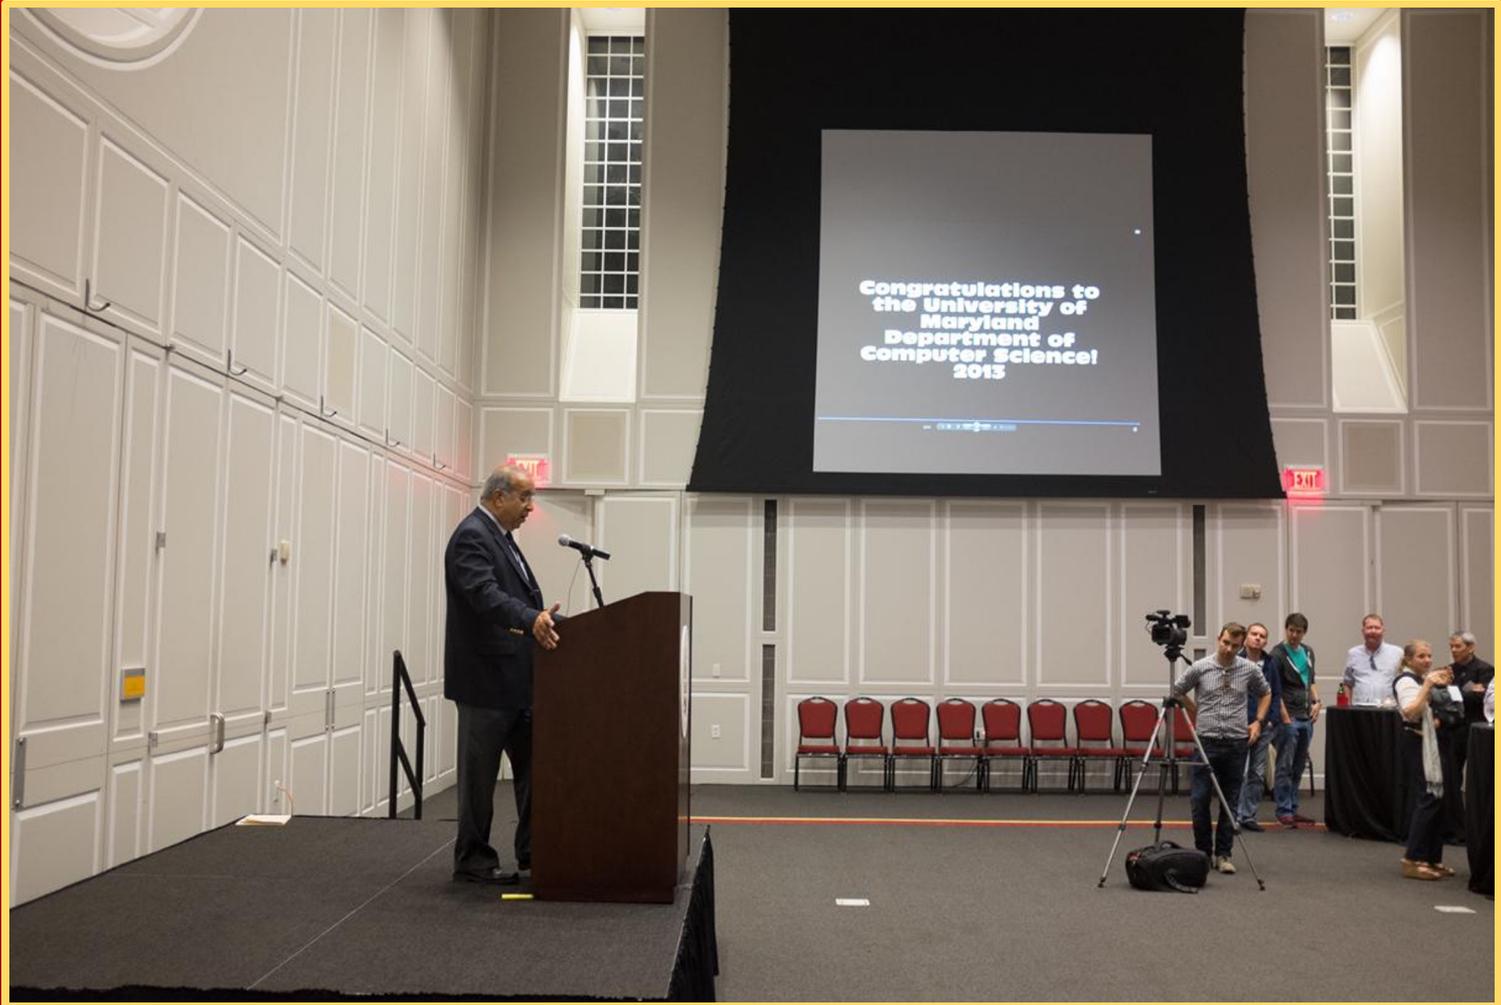

“Congratulations on your 50th anniversary at UMD College Park. It was an honor and privilege to be your student and have you as my Ph.D. advisor. Here is wishing you the very best.”

~ Krishnan Kailas

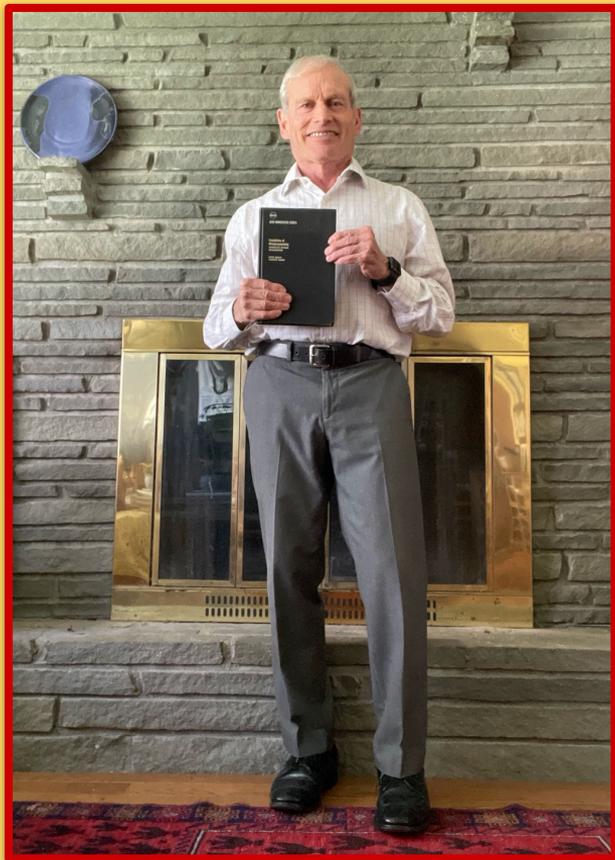

“The lessons Professor Agrawala has taught me from all of the years I spent learning from him have lasted in everything I do, from being with my family and in my professional life. I might not be able to tell him often of the impact he has had on my life, but he definitely has been one of the few people to really guide me past my graduate school experience. He has helped and guide people for 50 years who are now across the globe and his guidance will be felt for many more years to come. Congratulations on this wonderful achievement!”

~ Christian Almazan

congratulations

“Fifty years is quite an achievement!! I imagine you have advised a number of Ph.D. students. I was very proud to be one of the first. How the computer technology has changed in 50 years! From standalone mainframes to worldwide interconnected PCs and phones with apps. Your research and contributions in a broad array of topical areas is very impressive; Maryland has been fortunate to have you as a mainstay in the computer science department for this extended period. I am now semi-retired and still working part time for a company in California, managing the development of electronic signature systems. We have a team in Hyderabad (which I have visited), and meet weekly via Skype. I've attached a photo of me holding the book we wrote, using a word processor program I developed on the mainframe! Congratulations on your 50 years of contributions to Maryland.

~ Tom Rauscher

“Thanks so much for all you have done,
you've been instrumental in my career,
growth, and how I approach life.”

~ Nick Gramsky

“Congratulations Professor Agrawala!”

~ Mukesh Singhal

“I would have loved to join in this noteworthy celebration of Professor Agrawala’s 50th year at UMD but unfortunately I shall be able to attend. However, I will send my greetings to him. He has been a great mentor to me during my years at College Park and I owe a lot to him for setting me on my career path. Thank you for the invitation. Best wishes.”

~ Ashok Kulkarni (PhD '76)

“Wow -- 50 years! (I only made it to 39.) My hat is off to you, Ashok! And I wish you many more productive years as well.”

“Congratulations, Ashok, on this wonderful hallmark achievement! Your constant efforts for and dedication to our department are an inspiration to us all.”

~ Rob Patro

“Congratulations, Ashok, on your long, memorable, and impactful career! You have not only touched the hearts and minds of a myriad of students, but have also forged new and innovative areas of computing research, all focused on not only advancing the state of knowledge, but also on serving society. Best wishes to you as you continue your intellectual journey beyond a half century!”
